Carra surrenders to melancholic sensibility [...], to romantic delight in an evocative narrative that brings the approach to programmatic music, giving off a mixture of aerial emotions and repetitive motifs that suggest a certain pop hue between them.

JOSE CARRA

Composer and pianist Jose Carra is one of the most creative pianists of the new generation of Spanish jazz musicians. His music is strongly influenced by classical music and jazz, but also by many other styles such as rock, pop, electronic music or Spanish popular music. Poetry also plays a key role in his compositions, creating a very personal and recognizable universe.

We find this lyrical world in his new album. Taghrid Records releases the Jose Carra Trio's Diario de vuelo on 2018. The trio which includes drummer Dani Domínguez and bassist Bori Alberó, perform twelve Carra originals. The influences of his music are manifold, ranging from jazz to electronic music grooves, using pedals connected to a synthesizer, although the influence of classical music, which makes his music so uniquely outstanding, is prominent.

In addition to these projects as a leader, Jose Carra has performed and recorded with musicians of prestige such as Sheila Jordan, Peter Bernstein, Eric Alexander, Chris Cheek, Stanley Jordan, Perico Sambeat, Roberta Gambarini, Deborah Carter, Gareth Locrane, and flamenco musicians like Miguel Poveda, Argentina, Jorge Pardo, Javier Colina and Carles Benavent.

DRUMS · ELECTRONICS

With his own language, a deep commitment to the groove, and lack of prejudice, he went through non-regular paths from flamenco to electrónicos, from jazz to hip-hop, from pop to avant-garde, always successfully, and with great feedback from critics and audience.

We can appreciate this versatility are his works with Jorge Pardo, Kase.O Jazz Magnetism, Mala Rodriguez, Llibert Fortuny, Guillermo Klein, David Mengual, David Xirgu, Agustí Fernandez, Dioptría 2.0, Violently Happy!, Spectrum Of Emotion, Javier Galiana o Unexpected, awards as “Best Drummers” (2004) and “Best Group” (2003/2004/2005) by Associació de Músicos de Jazz i Música Moderna de Catalunya.

BORIALBERO
DOUBLE BASS

Born in Girona. Trained at the Conservatory of his hometown and later at ES-MUC in the Jazz Double Bass Area with teachers such as Mario Rossy or Horacio Fumero. Also, take private lessons with Javier Colina.

We can find the doble bass of Bori in recordings with renowned performers on the national scene such as Roger Mas, Jaume Llombart, Julián Sánchez, Enrique Oliver, Marina Albero, Arturo Serra, Joan Monné, David Xirgu ... and much more. Currently, he alternates his activity as a top-level sideman of artists like Lee Konitz or Chano Domínguez.

AWARDS & QUOTES

José Carra is now one of the best-prepared, most versatile and creative musicians of his generation in Spain

Jorge Rossy, drummer and vibraphonist

His compositions are advanced and inspired me

Aaron Goldberg, pianist

Very, very personal. Symphonic, intimate, poetic, rocky, delicate, energetic ... Wonderful!

Ferran Conangla, sound engineer and producer

Poetics and Preciousness

Miguel Ángel Barba, Aforo Libre Magazine

‘Verso’ is contemporary musical poetry

Íñigo Ortega, Distrito Jazz Magazine

We immerse ourselves in what feels like a great soundtrack of experiences, sounds, words and sensations

Ramón García, La voz de Almería

Among the most relevant names of the new generation of peninsular jazzmen, pianist and composer José Carra stands out by his own merits. A new sample of his excellence is confirmed in his new album entitled “Verso”, which shows his most lyrical and evocative side. He defends a stylistic eclecticism where jazz meets rock and classical music.
