

MARINAH

@marinah_odb

Marinah was a singer and composer of Ojos de Brujo, the combo that broke musical boundaries mixing rumba and flamenco, with a thousand rhythms from everywhere. Once that adventure was over — which lasted from 1996 to 2013 and left a handful of luminous albums and countless performances inside and outside our borders — she began a solo career, which so far has borne three albums, “El Baile de las Horas”, “Sintonías” with Chicuelo and “Afrolailo”. Currently, she continues his adventure by joining the Global Bass community, where she feels comfortable mixing folkloric elements and root music elements with the sound of current electronics.

New album release in March, Heroínas, with Nacional Records.
